STANDARD PICTURE LESSON CARDS

Vol. 28 Second Quarter, 1937 No. 2

Part 18, for June 6, 1937

STORY OF THE PICTURE

Jacob had twelve sons. One of them was Joseph. When Joseph was a boy, his brothers sold him as a slave. He was taken to Egypt.

When Joseph became a young man he was a great help to Pharaoh, the king of Egypt.

Pharaoh had a strange dream. Only Joseph knew what the dream meant. Joseph said there would be seven years when there would be much food. Then there would be seven years when no food would grow.

Joseph told Pharaoh to choose a man who would get some other men to help him store up some food during the days of plenty. They would use this food during the famine.

Pharaoh was very much pleased with Joseph. He chose Joseph to be the caretaker of the food. He placed his own ring on Joseph's finger and a gold chain about his neck. He was dressed in fine linen. He was ruler over the whole land of Egypt. Only Pharaoh was greater than Joseph. When he rode out in a chariot, the people called, "Bow the knee," for they knew that Pharaoh had made Joseph very great and they must obey him.
